

I, II, XLIX

by Ucaoimhu

Happy Birthday, Doug! The clues for I and II are wordplay-only. Also, though I is central to this appropriately-sized puzzle, it isn't the II for this event; rather, the II can be found by starting at the end of I, moving left step by step as per the overstuffed squares above I, pausing, and then moving right step by step as per the overstuffed squares below I.

ACROSS (alphabetized by answer)

T line in station backs up in the least agreeable circumstance (2 wds.)

That male horse's villainous laughs

Items that are not even members of your lists

Thou must go after evil plumbing fixture

Told Wu to change an archaic contraction

True, I will be playing organs

Hand signal from peacenik that's taken on Greek character

DOWN

1. Those that hide don't speak up when in inside cylinders

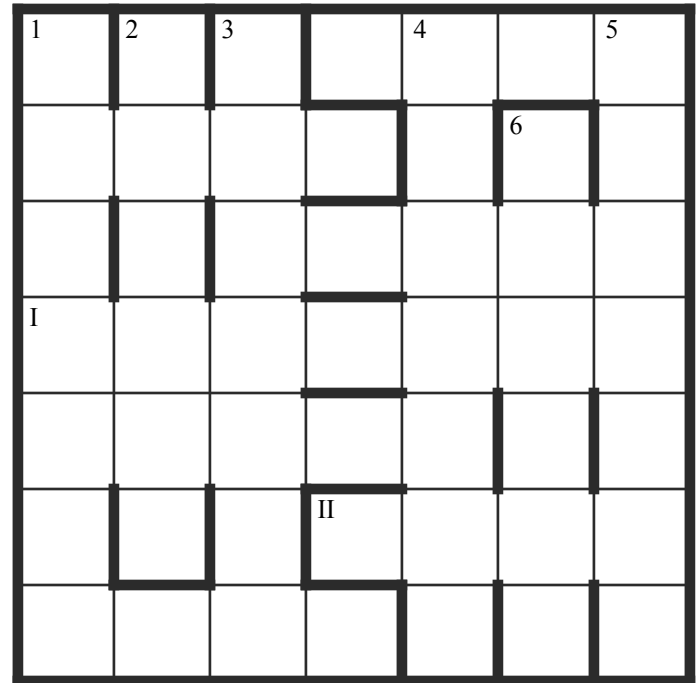

2. Total amount of dough and wet crackers in boreal regions (2 wds.)

3. Achieve victory, acquiring vigorous, fine plant resembling part of a sea creature (2 wds.)

4. European nation near Russia's borders in east!

5. More dopey Morse code symbols — i.e., .-. in Morse (var. spelling)

6. US pint, oddly, hasn't yet taken on the world (2 wds.)

I, II, XLIX

by Ucaoimhu

Happy Birthday, Doug! The clues for I and II are wordplay-only. Also, though I is central to this appropriately-sized puzzle, it isn't the II for this event; rather, the II can be found by starting at the end of I, moving left step by step as per the overstuffed squares above I, pausing, and then moving right step by step as per the overstuffed squares below I.

ACROSS (alphabetized by answer)

T line in station backs up in the least agreeable circumstance (2 wds.)

That male horse's villainous laughs

Items that are not even members of your lists

Thou must go after evil plumbing fixture

Told Wu to change an archaic contraction

True, I will be playing organs

Hand signal from peacenik that's taken on Greek character

DOWN

1. Those that hide don't speak up when in inside cylinders

2. Total amount of dough and wet crackers in boreal regions (2 wds.)

3. Achieve victory, acquiring vigorous, fine plant resembling part of a sea creature (2 wds.)

4. European nation near Russia's borders in east!

5. More dopey Morse code symbols — i.e., .-. in Morse (var. spelling)

6. US pint, oddly, hasn't yet taken on the world (2 wds.)

