

Reaching New Heights

by Ucaoimhu

Sure, our new headquarters are a bit loftier than before, but we can set our sights even higher. Specifically:

(1) Eleven answers must be entered with three letters in a single unchecked square; when the grid is complete, these will form a map (with indications of how to orient it) showing the location of our current HQ, my proposed new HQ, and what is in between.

(2) Of course, this is just a two-dimensional map. For the third dimension, note that the wordplay for each Down clue not used in (1) yields a letter sequence with one extra letter; enter this extra letter on the thin grid line in the position where it occurs. Bottom to top, these letters will say what sort of climb is involved in getting to that new HQ.

(3) Finally, in addition to solving space, our new HQ will need room for food. Each Across clue not used in (1) has one incorrect letter, which must be corrected before solving. In clue order, the incorrect letters will say where the food is; the correct letters will say what food we might find there, bearing the words from (2).
