

Abstract: We describe various phenomena in the dynamics of planar group actions which relate the analytic quality of the action to certain constraints on (bounded) cohomology. We also study the question of when a planar group is left- or circularly ordered, and show that the answer is always positive in certain (naturally occurring) special contexts.