

A Bit In Advance — by Ucaoimhu

To commemorate this planning party taking place one year before the Boston con, each of thirteen answers in this puzzle must be altered before being entered in the grid by having one of its letters moved to an earlier position, thus forming a new word. When the grid is filled, 16 and 26 Across will contain a not-quite-familiar phrase appropriate to the year-in-advance scheduling, and location, of this meeting; the shaded squares along the snake will form another related phrase, and the initial letters of the clues for the altered entries, in clue order, will form a third phrase which, together with the snake, is also related.
